

HORSE SAFETY

Horses that are known kickers are required to wear a red ribbon in their tail. Parents in this situation are required to stay with the horse. Known kickers are to stay at a reasonable distance from other horses whilst in the marshalling area and arena.

Note—horses known to kick will typically kick only in certain circumstances (e.g if another horse moves up close behind that horse)

Through the use of this red ribbon warning, other riders know to maintain a safe distance behind any horse displaying a red ribbon so as to avoid increasing the risk of kicks.
